

From: Cowan, Daniel F. <dcowan@utmb.edu>
To: 'bcurry@caliban.ucsd.edu' <bcurry>
Date: Monday, January 25, 1999 6:35 AM
Subject: Stress review

---

Barb:

The review looks good to me. It seems thorough and focused. You have assimilated a remarkably large amount of information. The definitional approach to stress is consistent with my understanding.

Having said all that, my comments are limited to small points and to typos page 6, first paragraph: how long is the net, and how deep does it go?

page 6, line 10: put a period after bottom, not a bracket.

page 9. in the Stressors paragraph: whether or not acute stress is adaptive and chronic stress pathologic depends on the intensity of the stressor. (You discuss this later, but it should be introduced here).

page 10, line 2, individuals

page 10, line 6, psychologic component of stress may evolve with experience page 19, line 11, spelling of the first word.

page 24, line 12; indicate

page 24, line 20: similar to the study page 39, line 11 Cowan & Walker (1979) is cited, but not included in the reference list page 45, line 5; domestic animals page 46, lines 12 & 13 don't make sense to me as written.

page 49, first line, last para: too many words.

page 59, line 19, unable

page 84, last ref. Monographs

I couldn't find anything else to comment on.

Thanks for a good meeting.

DFC